FARRIS PRAISES STONE'S LOBBYING

He Will Support Ex Governor
for Senate.

HAS RIGHT TO ACCEPT FEES

"ACTING AS LEGISLATIVE AGENT IS NO OFFENSE."

Lobby Senator Mildly Deprecates
Stone's Shell Hiding Tactics—Says
Dockery Could Beat Him, but Will Not Enter Race.

"I am for Bill Stone for United States senator," said Senator Frank Farris of Crawford County to the Post-Dispatch this morning.

Senator Farris spent last night in St.
Louis, but was called home by a telegram today.

He was in the best of humor, and referred to the ex-governor's senatorial aspirations with much enthusiasm.

"You bet," said Farris. "Stone is the man for West's place. He represents the solid Democracy of the state. He went out and fought in the last campaign when others stayed at home. He helped to keep Missouri Democratic.

"How about St. Louis and Kansas City?
Could the state have been carried without their aid?" was asked.

"That's true," replied Farris. "But St.
Louis and Kansas City don't cut any ice in this senatorial race.

"The country people are for Stone, and I am with him. My people think he is all right, and I am willing to trust their judgment,
at least when it is fully agreed with mine."

"What about Stone's lobby record?" the senator was asked.

LOBBY SUBJECT A JOKE.
He chuckled and then laughed aloud.
Farris himself was a lobby lawyer during the '96 and '98 sessions of the Legislature, and was a member of the quartette known as the "Big Four," the men who swing the destinies of the combine of 17, which was a unit on all propositions affecting legislation.

"Why, that's not going to hurt Stone. I suppose I know as much as anybody else about his lobbying. I know Stone is a lobbyist, but that doesn't make him underserving of the honor he seeks. It is no crime to represent and protect corporations.

"Of course, Stone went farther than many a professional lobbyist would go when he attempted to hide the shell.

"I knew all about his manipulation of that baking powder deal. But that's nothing.
If a man gets a chance to pick up a dollar or two of fees, and if he is simply acting as a lawyer, as Bill Stone was, why, what objection can there be to his course?

STONE "OUT FOR MAZUMA."

"Of course Gov. Stone is out for the ma-zuma. Why wouldn't he be? He has been too, I suppose, as rapacious as any other legislative agent, but that doesn't blind Missouri Democrats to his good qualities.

"We don't care what the newspapers say.
It was a newspaper's boast that it would beat me, but I came out of the fight 250 votes ahead of my opponent.

"I certainly do not see why anyone should take issue with Gov. Stone in making all the fees he possibly can. He won't deny these charges, probably, because they are true, but they don't amount to anything.

"Then you think Stone has a certainty on the senatorial?"

"I certainly do. Only one man can beat him, and that is Gov. Dockery. But I don't think there is any danger of Dockery coming out."

SIX MISS ROOSEVELTS THERE

Miss Christine Roosevelt's Five Cousins, Headed by President's Daughter, Attended Her Coming-
Out Dance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Six Miss Roosevelts, headed by Miss Alice, daughter of the President, made Sherry's a garden of girl beauty last night. It was the coming-out of Miss Christine Keen Roosevelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Emilie Roosevelt, and all her girl cousins were there.

Miss Christine was formally presented to society Dec. 3, at a crush tea given by her mother. Last night, well-filled delegations of friends and a merry company of friends of friends gathered at the home of Louis and a daughter of the corporation
so as to include the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and other roads seeking young ladies.

Propositions will be voted on to increase the capital stock of the association from $100,000 to $50,000,000.

SLEEPING WOMAN SPOKE SENTENCE

Then Slumber Overpowered
Mrs. Abernathy.

SIXTH DAY OF HER STUPOR

FOOD IS BELIEVED TO HAVE SUS-TAINED HER VITALITY.

"Sure I Do," She Said in Waking Interval to Friends' Query of Recognition—attending Physician Excludes Curious.

After nearly six days and nights of slumber, Mrs. James Abernathy of 1313 North Market street awoke last night for the first time since last Friday morning.

She uttered but three words, but those words constituted an intelligent reply to a question.

Then Mrs. Abernathy closed her eyes and resumed her strange sleep, while the friends who were gathered at her bedside, encouraged by the sound of her voice, entertained renewed hope for her recovery.

Mrs. Shaw, a neighbor and friend, sat beside the patient late last night.

Several times Mrs. Abernathy's eyes opened briefly and she seemed to see things understandingly, but it was not apparent that she recognized the persons in the room, all of whom she has known intimately.

HER ANSWER WAS BRIEF.
Mrs. Shaw finally said:

"Don't you know me?"

The response came promptly, in a low tone, from Mrs. Abernathy:

"Sure I do."

Then her eyes closed and she slept deeply again. All efforts to arouse her further or cause her to talk were vain.

In addition to Mrs. Shaw, three other neighbors, Mrs. Joseph Berger, Mrs. Bern-hart Berger and Mrs. Louis Peterson are attending the sleeping woman, doing all they can for her comfort.

During the night Mrs. Abernathy ate some normal broths, which was given to her in her sleep.

Dr. J. E. Chambers, the attending physician, reports this morning that he considers Mrs. Abernathy's condition improved.

The patient, he says, appears strong, and the soup and oatmeal which she has eaten since her long sleep began are sufficient to conserve her strength in the absence of exercise and expenditure of energy. So far as those at her bedside are able to determine, her slumber seems to be normally restful.

The Abernathy residence has been besieged by callers. Curious persons, attracted by the reports of Mrs. Abernathy's condition, have caused the family considerable annoyance.

CURIOS ARE TURNED AWAY.

Some who has no interest whatever in the case, but are drawn by mere morbid curiosity, have sought admittance. All these have been turned away.

Dr. Chambers has found it necessary to place a placard on the door stating that no callers will be admitted and requesting that all persons having business regarding
Mrs. Abernathy call upon him.

Mr. Abernathy, the aged husband, has been much annoyed by cranks. Persons professing to be clairvoyants, hypnotists and experts in suggestion have sought admittance to the room where Mrs. Abernathy lies, but all such are firmly repelled.

Spiritualists still take a keen interest in the sleeping woman, and some of them believe that when she awakes she will reveal important messages from the spirit world.

Physicians also express interest in the case and throughout the city medical men are discussing it.

For the present there are no indications whatever. It is said of an awakening. Mr.
Abernathy and the attending neighbors, however, are encouraged to believe that the patient will awake, and they watch every symptom of wakefulness such as the opening of the eyes and the brief response last night, with anxious interest.

HENRY COLL'S SIMPLE STORY

DURING STRIKE INQUIRY
AT MINERS' WOES

Inhuman Treatment Astonished Them.

MARKE COMPANY ARRAIGNED

EVERY BONE OF WITNESS
BROKEN IN ITS SERVICE.

And When His Services in Mines Were
No Longer Valuable It Turned Him Out of His Humble Home.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 10.—Great, big, strong are the members of the coal strike commission, but they wept when a miner told his simple straightforward story of incredible ill-treatment, of inhumanity that astonished the judges.

The veil was raised a few inches higher,
and the commissioners were astonished as they looked beyond.

Bishop Spalding swung in his chair, turning his back upon the courtroom to hide his tears.

Assistant Prosecutor Morey made no attempt to hide his.

Judge Gray's face was white and those were hard, indignant lines about his mouth as he echoed the words of the coal trust lawyer. "Yes, that is all," adding:
"It is enough."

If there be lower depths of human mility than these, in which these miners live they have never been fathomed.

Millions have wept over the sorrows that piled upon Jean Vailean, but Victor Hugo Grimes was never a more nearrending type of misery than was old Henry Coll, as he told how he had bent his back under the brutal yoke of men who have power before the country as philanthropists, and claimed a God-given right to their position as employers of labor.

For the improvements now under way involving an expenditure of $10,000, 000 were formally approved.

Mr. Morey, president of the Marke
Company, was present.

Immediately after this meeting the district attorney for the ensuing year will begin to serve for the miners.

In the directorate the Rock Island road will have representation and possibly the Southern Railways.

Amendments to the charter of the company will be submitted for consideration, but their exact nature has not as yet been made public.

CASTRO'S CHARACTER.

The president of Venezuela, Cipriano Castro, while a soldier, was a man of point of explosiveness of character, a cruel tyrant and tireless plottier, is brave to a degree. He has, during the incessant fighting of the past three months, put himself at the head of his troops and led the most desperate charges, something few heads of government have done, or would do.

He is less than 40 years of age and highly educated. For years before he seized the presidency he was in politics, while in Venezuela mostly means fighting, which does not mean war, and the war was conducted by him. His elaborate conduct in action led to the intervention which has assumed the proportions of a general rebellion.

Castro hates foreigners and does all the dares do against their interests. He is virtually a dictator and does all law and precedent. He built a steel coop as an addition to the palace at Caracas, to be secure from assassination. His chief aim in life since attaining power has been the accumulation of gold, and he is charged with numerous cruelties to force payment from his victims.

He is a shrewd diplomat as well as brave fighter.

50 ENGLISHMEN, 962 GERMANS

Estimate of the Number of White Citizens of the Two Angry Governments in Venezuela.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—There are comparatively few white British subjects in Caracas; the power less than fifty.

The Caracas-La Guaira Railroad is a British concern and its general manager and other high officials are Englishmen. There are some English engineers on the line.

Other Englishmen in Caracas are employed in industrial and other pursuits. British are found among the clerical force of commercial houses.

There are a large number of natives of the British West Indies Islands in Venezuela and quite a number in Caracas.

The Germans in Caracas are much more numerous.

The railroad from Caracas to Valencia is a German concern. There are also a number of German merchants and German clerks at La Guaya and Gracias, and in the mining and other important town of the republic. The census of 1894 places the number of Germans in Venezuela at 922.

TO BOOM STARTING DEVICE.

Frank Carr went to New York yesterday for the purpose of trying to get the magnates of the eastern racetracks to try his new starting gate. President Tillett of the St. Louis Fair Association has promised to give him a thorough trial at the coming spring meeting, and he thinks that the principle of the device is good.

There are said to be several drawbacks to the new gate, which he says will be safe to the horses when he assures the owners, after a fair break, that he has shown the public, and the track owners will witness a machine of adaptability and ease of operation.

OFF-TOLD BOODLE TALE REPEATED

Schnettler Trial in Progress Before Judge Douglas.

STOCK AND MURRELL HEARD

CHARGE IS COMPLICITY IN SUBURBAN BRIBERY.

Members of Combine Declare That Accused Man Was Their Associate and That They Met at His Hall.

The second day of the trial of John H. Schnettler, charged with bribery in connection with the passage of the Suburban franchise bill in 1898, opened at 10 o'clock this morning.

The first witness was William H. Judy, whose testimony was merely documentary. Judy was clerk of the House of Delegates in 1898, and his testimony showed that Schnettler was a member of the body when Council Bill No. 100, for the passage of which the prosecution alleges bribe money was offered, was before the House. Philip M. Murrell, who had agreed to testify as to his services as legislative agent, in making arrangements with John K. Murrell to sell the bill to the legislature, among the members of the combine, $75,000 which Charles H. Turner had offered for the passage of the bill.

OLD TESTIMONY REPEATED.

Stock's testimony was practically a repetition of that given by him in his previous bribery and perjury cases.

John K. Murrell also testified as to his connection with the bill in substantially the same language used in his testimony in two other cases bearing upon the Suburban franchise.

Testimony corroborative of Murrell's was given by former Delegates E. W. Murrell, William M. Tamblyn, John Holmes and George E. Rostow.

The only witness summoned for the defense is the following: to testify to Schnettler's good character: H. H. Verne, No. 225 North Fourth street; Charlie Myatt, No. 112 North Main street; John Applebaum, No. 283 Elm avenue; Herman Oppenheimer, No. 220 North Main street; and Dan Kurz, No. 234 South Broadway.

E. GOREEL CALLED.

Edwin E. Goebel was the first witness called yesterday. He is a deputy circuit clerk. He read the record of Schnettler's election to the House of Delegates, Patrick R. Gleeson's speech in support of the bill of office, George F. Mockler, secretary of the City Council, read the record of Bill No. 100, and the bill was read over again.

Joseph N. Dodge, clerk of the House of Delegates, was the first witness called this morning. He described the course of the bill in the House.

The only witness summoned by the defense are persons who have known Schnettler many years, and it is argued that they are expected to testify as to his good character.

STOCK CLOSELY QUERIED.

Philip Stock was cross-examined by former Judge Willis H. Clark. The witness made no secret of his desire to negotiate with John K. Murrell for the passage of the bill for a bribe from the Suburban. Judge Clark asked:

"Did you get any compensation for this work?"

"No," replied the witness; "it was done just for friendship."

"What have you done other things like that just for friendship?"

"Yes."

"Where do you draw the line? Would you be likely to have a friend, just for friendship?"

Stock declared that he never has testified falsely and would not. The witness said that he did not know Schnettler personally in the arrangement, his negotiations being carried on with Murrell.

JURY WAS SELECTED.

A jury was obtained to try the case yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Four hours had been spent in choosing men acceptable to both sides.

Frank D. Cole, president Cole Glass Manufacturing Co., 111 Washington avenue.

John Cole, John Cole Wire company, 5423 Bartner avenue.

Frank G. Eaton, Roemer Coffee and Spice Co., 1007 Washington avenue.

Joseph N. Evans, president Evans Bros. Tobacco Co., 407 Delmar boulevard.

John W. Fristoe, vice-president T. J. Hanley, 111 North Main street.

Fred Hatterley, president Fred Hatterley B. & C. Co., 304 Pine street.

Price Land, president Land & Lane Co., 1009 Washington avenue.

Charles W. Mendenhall, secretary Standard Stamping Co., 424 Cool avenue.

William P. Martin, president Mueller Pump Co., 605 Elmwood avenue.

William C. Hoerner, cashier May Walker Dry Goods Co., 327 Washington avenue.

In examining John K. Murrell, the witness brought up the new testimony regarding bribery in the House of Delegates.

Mr. Folk asked Murrell if he had received compensation for his vote on the bill.

The witness replied that he received $250 for voting for the lighting bill and that it was paid to him at Julius Lehmann's house by Charles F. Clark.

Murrell also said that he received money for a vote on the Burlington railroad bill.

"How much?" asked the judge.

"Fifty dollars."

The witness testified that he received "about the same" compensation for his vote on a Missouri Pacific measure.

He said he did not receive a bribe in the matter of the Lindell railway bill, but had received so many others that he could not recall all of them.

FAMOUS THE WORLD OVER.

Special Offer That Is of More Than General Interest.

Probably there are no reading persons in the United States who have not often heard of the Encyclopedia Britannica, and if they have not been fortunate enough to own it, few of them have had access to it in the public libraries for no consulting library, no matter how small, would care to be without this kind of reference book.

An offer is made today in another column of this paper which will enable every one to procure the Britannica.

The offer is Constitution Day, but has been obtained by the American Newspaper Association, whose great advertising and distributing facilities enable it to make a special price, and so low as to place it within general reach.

The association also permits the books to be paid for gradually. The entire set will be delivered on receipt of the first dollar.

It is not necessary to command here a famous work such as the Encyclopedia Britannica, now well known and recognized as authoritative around the globe.

We must, however, commend the American Encyclopedia, which has secured this month a new edition for its 1902 publication. It means a practical educational service going direct into the homes of the people.

An inquiry can be made with the advertiser who will bring full facts about this interesting and important offer.

FAIR WITHOUT SWITCH ENGINES

Roads Withdrew Them in Accordance With Ultimatum.

EVEN OFF AT NOON TODAY

EXPOSITION COMPANY TOOK NO ACTION ON WARNING.

President Francis and Traffic Manager Blasius Out of City—Missouri Pacific Offers to Lend Engines Temporarily.

At noon today, the Missouri Pacific, Frisco and Colorado roads withdrew their switch engines from the tracks on the World's Fair ground in accordance with an ultimatum delivered to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. last night.

Shortly before noon, Secretary Stevens stated to the Post-Dispatch that no action had been taken by the exposition corporation with reference to the ultimatum.

It is not likely, however, that officials are not aware that the work of hauling lumber and other building materials to the fair site will be seriously interfered with by this development.

A Missouri Pacific official stated to the Post-Dispatch at noon that the railroads were willing to lend the fair management as many engines as they needed for switching temporarily.

It is thought the World's Fair management will accept the temporary loan, unless other means are taken to settle the controversy at once.

The railroad companies demand that the World's Fair company either organize a terminal system in Taylor city and supply engines and crews of its own or pay them for doing the work. The sending of this ultimatum last night was the sequel to a meeting of representatives of the four roads interested yesterday afternoon.

Ultimatum Sent to Secretary Stevens.

President Francis, Director of Works Taylor and George W. Ristline, the recently appointed traffic manager, were not in St. Louis last night and the ultimatum was sent to George F. Mockler, secretary of the City Council, read the record of Bill No. 100 in the Council, and the record of the bill was read over again.

The only witness summoned for the defense are the following: to testify to Schnettler's good character: H. H. Verne, No. 225 North Fourth street; Charlie Myatt, No. 112 North Main street; John Applebaum, No. 283 Elm avenue; Herman Oppenheimer, No. 220 North Main street; and Dan Kurz, No. 234 South Broadway.

E. GOREEL CALLED.

Edwin E. Goebel was the first witness called yesterday. He is a deputy circuit clerk. He read the record of Schnettler's election to the House of Delegates, Patrick R. Gleeson's speech in support of the bill of office, George F. Mockler, secretary of the City Council, read the record of Bill No. 100, and the bill was read over again.

Joseph N. Dodge, clerk of the House of Delegates, was the first witness called this morning. He described the course of the bill in the House.

The only witness summoned by the defense are persons who have known Schnettler many years, and it is argued that they are expected to testify as to his good character.

STOCK CLOSELY QUERIED.

Philip Stock was cross-examined by former Judge Willis H. Clark. The witness made no secret of his desire to negotiate with John K. Murrell for the passage of the bill for a bribe from the Suburban. Judge Clark asked:

"Did you get any compensation for this work?"

"No," replied the witness; "it was done just for friendship."

"What have you done other things like that just for friendship?"

"Yes."

"Where do you draw the line? Would you be likely to have a friend, just for friendship?"

Stock declared that he never has testified falsely and would not. The witness said that he did not know Schnettler personally in the arrangement, his negotiations being carried on with Murrell.

JURY WAS SELECTED.

A jury was obtained to try the case yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Four hours had been spent in choosing men acceptable to both sides.

Thomas J. Harry, president Thomas Weingartner Machine Co., 111 Hamilton avenue.

Frank D. Cole, president Cole Glass Manufacturing Co., 111 Washington avenue.

John Cole, John Cole Wire company, 5423 Bartner avenue.

Frank G. Eaton, Roemer Coffee and Spice Co., 1007 Washington avenue.

Joseph N. Evans, president Evans Bros. Tobacco Co., 407 Delmar boulevard.

John W. Fristoe, vice-president T. J. Hanley, 111 North Main street.

Fred Hatterley, president Fred Hatterley B. & C. Co., 304 Pine street.

Price Land, president Land & Lane Co., 1009 Washington avenue.

Charles W. Mendenhall, secretary Standard Stamping Co., 424 Cool avenue.

William P. Martin, president Mueller Pump Co., 605 Elmwood avenue.

William C. Hoerner, cashier May Walker Dry Goods Co., 327 Washington avenue.

In examining John K. Murrell, the witness brought up the new testimony regarding bribery in the House of Delegates.

Mr. Folk asked Murrell if he had received compensation for his vote on the bill.

The witness replied that he received $250 for voting for the lighting bill and that it was paid to him at Julius Lehmann's house by Charles F. Clark.

Murrell also said that he received money for a vote on the Burlington railroad bill.

"How much?" asked the judge.

"Fifty dollars."

The witness testified that he received "about the same" compensation for his vote on a Missouri Pacific measure.

He said he did not receive a bribe in the matter of the Lindell railway bill, but had received so many others that he could not recall all of them.

EXCHANGED SALOON AND Y. M. C. A. SIGNS

WAG CAUSED FREE LUNCH RAID ON RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATION.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Over in Long Island City the railroad branch of the Y. M. C. A. has established a restaurant. It was nearly thrust into bankruptcy by a wag.

In front of the door stood a blackboard bearing the glad tidings: "Free hot lunch all day."

Everybody concluded that it meant a treat at the expense of the Young Men's Christian Association.

After the lunch appeared the first man to take a seat at the table was a well-known Long Island City character known as "Kelley the horse." "Hey, Spud," he shouted to a waiter, "I want to let you see a couple of loose eggs and a bowl of chicken soup." "Dick the Rat," another Long Island City waiter, sat in a reserved seat near the door and shouted to the waiter, "Bring me some hot lunch, and don't be stingy about the size

The pretender to the throne of Morocco has issued a postage stamp, but he may get licked himself.

The Venezuelan incident makes it appear that in international affairs might still regard as right by civilized nations.

The coal strike commission is learning much more than it expected. It is demonstrating the great importance of publicity.

SNEERING AT THE PRESIDENT.

The anthracite coal operators don't seem to like to lose an opportunity to show their contempt for the constituted authorities.

When Ira Babbitt, counsel for one of the operators, spoke of the President of the United States as "Teddy" Roosevelt he evoked the righteous wrath of Gen. Wilson of the Arbitration Commission and was properly rebuked by Judge Gray.

The incident reveals their temper. The intervention of the public exasperated them. They were forced to listen by public opinion, speaking by the mouth of Theodore Roosevelt, and they don't like him for his courage.

Cartoonists and paragraphers sometimes jestingly take liberties with the President, but, save in rare exceptions, their references are good humored and never exceed the bounds of temperate political discussion. To sneer at him in the course of legal or other formal proceedings is unprecedented and should not be tolerated.

The President of Venezuela may perhaps think he is entitled to Sultan-of-Turkey time in which to pay.

THE CHRISTMAS VISION

On Monday the Post-Dispatch published Hans Christian Andersen's story of "The Little Match Girl."

It is the story of a child who saw the Christmas vision. But that vision—of joy and beauty and welcome from loving hands—was not realized in the case of the wail of the story. The great children's storyteller pictures her as realizing the vision only through the gate of death. She died even as her flickering match, which seemed to show her all the joys of Christmas, burned itself out.

The Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival is intended to prevent Christmas day from becoming a day of sadness and misery to any destined for need. Joy, young or old, in St. Louis. It is intended to bring joy into the lives of those typified by Andersen's "Little Match Girl." It is intended to enable us to realize the Christmas vision.

At this time, who of us is not indulging in that vision? Who does not hope that Christmas will bring to him some joy? What child, however poor, has not dreams of Santa Claus and Christmas happiness?

It is for the good people of St. Louis who can do so, to bring about a realization of the Christmas vision for everyone in the city who, but for the aid of generous and hospitable hearts, might be bitterly disappointed.

To make this possible, the Post-Dispatch appeals for contributions to the Christmas Fund. A little money will bring Christmas happiness to some child. What will you give?

The comparatively low price of soft coal in St. Louis at this time is not only a great advertisement for the city, but it tells of the inestimable value of free trade between the states.

A HUMBLE HERO.

The sewer digger who sings at his labor may be a brave man, but how much braver is the man who sings in the presence of death, and who goes down to a terrible fate with a song on his lips!

John Durham was caught in a quagmire near Hoboken, N.J., just before dawn a few days ago, and it soon became evident that there was no escape for him. For two hours the slow approach of death was watched by those who sought to save the doomed man. Durham made a heroic effort to save his own life. He clutched at the swampgrass and lurched this way and that, hoping to obtain some hold on solid earth, at the same time crying out agonizingly for help. Willing hands sought to aid him, but to no avail.

At last, when he had sunk to the neck in the treacherous mire, realising that death was upon him, he accepted the situation and made the best of it. With tremulous lips he sang his favorite song, an old Irish air, and with those words on his tongue he sank down and down until death ended the terrible suspense.

John Durham must have had in him the stuff of which heroes are made. He was a humble man, but he had a stout heart. He had lived his life and he did not fear death. The faint-hearted ones who fear death have much to learn from John Durham.

Should the House maintain the Reed rules it will show more respect for the ex-speaker than it has shown for William McKinley.

CENTENARIANISM AS A MISSION.

You can become a centenarian if you put your whole mind to it. Mrs. Chandos Leigh-Hunt Wallace, wife of the post, tells how. "Our system is to vegetarianism," says Mrs. Wallace, "what vegetarianism is to meat eating—the next stage higher in the hygienic, esthetic and moral development of the race."

First, you must not eat flesh, fowl or fowl. You must abstain from all fermented food—anything with yeast in it, for instance, to say nothing of fermented liquors. All crude vegetables are forbidden—salt, baking soda and boraxe prohibited. Drugs must be thrown to the dogs and the use of water is encouraged in sickness and health.

Then there are rules against vaccination, about guns and traps and besides elaborate recipes for cooking and directions for eating.

The trouble with Mrs. Wallace's plan is that it leaves no time for anything but centenarianism. People like to live long, but most of them like to do something else beside. While they are living long they like to think, not only about their victuals and drink, and air and clothes, but about making money, seeing plays, painting pictures, writing and reading books, building houses, making World's Fairs, organizing syndicates, mergers and the like. All these activities must be abandoned if Mrs. Wallace's centenarianism is adopted. That will be the one mission in life.

That's the trouble with most of these schemes. They are exclusive. The worth of life is measured by its intensity—not its extensiveness. Let us stick to three-score years and ten, and that period do something worth while.

If the statesmanship which accepts "fees" to shape legislation and governmental action in the interest of corporation clients is the kind of statesmanship Missourians want to represent their state in the United States Senate, then William J. Stone is the man to elect senator.

VALUE OF SCHOOL PLAYGROUNDS.

The report of the committee on instruction and finance to the Board of Education recommends ample room for playgrounds, in purchasing sites for new schools. The committee says:

"Sites that are to be purchased for new buildings should be large, and in the new districts where land is not excessive in price, a whole block of land should, wherever possible, be purchased for a school site in preference to smaller lots. The matter of providing playgrounds for the children at future times when our city has grown beyond its present limits should receive the care and attention of the board now, when it attempts to provide new sites."

This is practically what the Post-Dispatch suggested a few days ago, in commenting on the fact that New York City is contemplating the roofing over of playgrounds in the crowded districts, for lack of room, thus depriving the school children in these districts of open-air grounds in which to play.

The committee's suggestion that a whole block of land be purchased in obtaining a site in any district where land is not excessively dear, is a good one. Big playgrounds will pay for themselves in many ways. As the city grows and vacant land is built upon, such playgrounds afford breathing spots and places of recreation for young and old all the year round. They will help to beautify the city, decrease crime, and lower the deathrate. Provision for ample playgrounds should be an essential part of every plan for a new school."

The ruling of the secretary of the treasury that tea imported and stored in bonded warehouses now would not be subject to the war-tax law, which expires with the present year, has been upset by a United States court decision, and the consequence is a large loss to importers, those of St. Louis losing $50,000 to $60,000. Evidently rulings by the treasury are not to be depended upon.

The crowded insane asylums of the United States are bad enough, but the conditions in Siberia, where there are no asylums, and where lunatics are chained in one place for many years, are infinitely worse than we find them in this country. Both Russia and the United States are in need of a good deal of civilization.

An interesting financial squeeze in the East seems to be in sight when the banks of three eastern cities are expected to disburse $300,000,000 of interest and dividends on the 1st of January. Will not the payees kindly consent to deposit the money as soon as they receive it?

Speculation makes trouble in every direction. It has made money tight in Wall street and it now adds to transportation troubles by increasing the volume of corn shipments. It is doing its best to get us back to hard times.

The Alton glassblowers have just beaten the world's record for fast work in bottle blowing. Illinois has a right to unlock her enthusiasm over such an achievement in one of her thriving cities.

With Michigan's World's Fair exhibit there is to be a great display of pioneer relics. It is likely that Kentucky could make a highly interesting showing of that kind.

The chances are that the next man in a burning building will forget all about what Chief Swingley has said about waiting for the firemen to come.

NEW CHIEF OPERATOR OF WESTERN UNION

M'LEOD FAVORED BY LUMBERMEN

LORANCE N. BOONE APPOINTED TO THAT POSITION.

LORANCE N. BOONE

Lorance N. Boone has been appointed chief operator of the St. Louis office of the Western Union Telegraph Co. to succeed the late William Henry Spencer, who held the position for many years.

For many years Mr. Boone was Mr. Spencer's right-hand man, holding the important position of wire chief. One filling this position must have intimate knowledge of the location of every wire running out of St. Louis for hundreds of miles. This knowledge is especially necessary at a time when storms and other disturbances demoralize the complicated system of telegraph lines and the wires have to be "patched up" in every direction.

At the tornado on May 27, 1906, Mr. Boone's knowledge of the wires enabled him to rig up a roundabout line to Chicago on wires from the Atlantic & Great Western of two or three hundred words, containing the first authentic information about the terrible catastrophe telegraphed from St. Louis.

This line was routed as follows and was made up of short stretches of wire that had been left by the storm: From St. Louis to Jeffersonville, Ind., then to the Chicago & Alton to Kansas City; over the Burlington to Quincy, Ill.; Wabash to Springfield, Ill., and the Chicago & Alton to Indianapolis, Ind.

Immediately after sending this bulletin the line went down completely, and it was some hours before another could be rigged up.

Mr. Boone was born in Springfield, Mo., in 1887, and is a great-grandson of Daniel Boone. His father was the youngest son of a broke old frontiersman. When died at the Boone homestead, still standing in St. Charles County, Mr. Boone's parents came to St. Louis when he was 12 years old, and remained here until about the close of the civil war, when they moved to Hannibal, Mo. There, at the age of 13, he entered the service of the Western Union as messenger. Fifteen months later he became night operator in the general offices of the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad at Hannibal. He was appointed to the manager of the Hannibal office of the Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Co., and remained there until 1894, when the company was absorbed by the Western Union. In 1894, the Western Union then brought Mr. Boone to St. Louis, and gave him the position of assistant chief. Since then, with the exception of two years, during which he was a dispatcher for the Hannibal & St. Louis Railroad, he has remained as detailed by the Western Union to various offices in the South and Texas. Mr. Boone has worked in St. Louis. His knowledge of wire routes and his ability to speak fluently at conventions, and he attended nearly every state and national convention held in the West since the Tilden convention at St. Louis in 1876.

KNOWS OF NO BANQUET.

Henry Nicolaus Disapproves Mr. Glasser's Reported Plan.

In reference to the published statement that Mr. Morris Glaser of Lindell boulevard intended to give a banquet tomorrow evening at his residence for the purpose of congratulating Mr. Henry Nicolaus on his acquittal of the charge of bribery, Mr. Nicolaus stated to the Post-Dispatch that he knew nothing of the matter.

He declared that he had no knowledge that any dinner was to be given in his honor until he read of it in the papers, and that he could not comment on it. He said that when such a dinner is given he would not be present, but thus far he had not been informed personally that it was Mr. Glaser's intention to be the host on such an occasion.

HE MAY BE PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL ORGANIZATION.

Nelson W. McLeod of the Grayson-McLeod Lumber Co. of St. Louis, is the choice of a large number of the delegates for the presidency of the new national lumber association being formed at the Southern Hotel.

It is probable that the official title of the organization will be either the Lumber Manufacturers of the United States or the "National Lumber Manufacturers Association."

Mr. McLeod is acting as the temporary head of the organization while the preliminaries for the organization of the giant industrial association are being formed.

He was chosen for this position when the delegates held their first meeting Tuesday morning.

If the plans of the delegates are carried out, one of the strongest and most important organizations of merchants in the United States will be affected.

It is proposed to make the new organization all the lumber organizations now organized throughout the country.

"Friends together in this way, the lumbermen can settle their differences easily," said one of the delegates to the Post-Dispatch this morning "than they can at present."

The amalgamated organization will in no way interfere, however, with the present lumber associations. They will retain their names and identities as they have been. White pine dealers have interests, of course, that are different from those of red dealers, and their associations will continue to operate independently. But all have certain interests in common and these the proposed national and general association will care for.

At Tuesday's session the Lumber Dealers' Association requested that a committee be appointed to confer with a like committee of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association for the purpose of forming a board of arbitration to settle all differences between the dealer and manufacturer.

After the meeting the visitors were shown through the World's Fair grounds. They were entertained last night at the Mercantile Club with a banquet given by the local manufacturers.

Switchman Hurled Twenty Feet.

Henry Price, aged 40, a switchman for the Missouri Pacific, was struck by a switch engine in the terminal yards last evening at 7:30 o'clock and received serious injuries. The switch engine was thrown 20 feet from the track. He was taken to his home, 210 Clark avenue.

Appellate Court Rules That Saloon
Applications Must Be Held

Ten Days.

That a saloon license is not valid unless it is issued after the petition or application has been on file in the court or excise commissioner's office for ten days was decided yesterday by the Court of Appeals.

The law does not require an applicant for a saloon license to make an oath regarding a petition.

ROLY POLYS' TRIP WITH SANTA CLAUS

A Genuine Treat for the Boys and Girls in Next Sunday's Christmas Number of the Post-Dispatch.

SANTA himself, as you may have observed, is Roly Poly shape, "built Christ-massey." Working the brake and gong of his auto-sleigh, in which the Roly poly family are embarked for their journey "Around the World With Santa Claus," he will look just like one of them, in the Christmas number of the Sunday Post-Dispatch, which is to be issued Sunday, December 14.

And what a trip they have! Globular globe-trotters, they meet in their flight the Dutch, Japanese, Chinese, Eskimo and Indian Roly's.

There is even a Spanish Roly—What should you suppose a Spanish Roly could possibly look like?

The Roly's press agent, Mr. West, has anticipated our natural curiosity by furnishing accurate colored sketches of all the foreign Roly's.

The paper of many sections has advantages:

The Funny Side will stay the impatience of the least muscular child while he's waiting for the Roly book. It is to be an excellent Funny Side, with drawings by Funny Siders who care for Christmas and enter into its spirit.

The rest are ruled out for this once.

But, of course, all the old favorites do catch the spirit!

You really should see Mr. Herriman's creation concerning the small boy who wanted a Christmas drum; and the tragedy of Clarence, the Cop, who, of course, doesn't know any better than to disturb Santa Claus just when he's busiest; and the ludicrous misadventures of Chollie—or is it Gawge's turn this time?—in trying to get a Christmas present to Miss Tootsie's dessert.

There's a lesson with a practical application in the invention of Mischievous Willie. Why didn't Edison ever think of an elastic stocking for presents, instead of fooling with electric lights and things?

Then, there are that merry pair, Acrobatic Archie and the Angel Child. Archie teaches Santa Claus to do "stunts." So does the Angel. Poor old Santa! He deserved better treatment!

A CHRISTMAS ROLY POLY.
